

Apr 26, 2015

"The Art of Dealing with Characters" at Al Ain University

In a spry and entertaining style, the student Mohammad Abdo Mohamed from the College of Education, Humanities and Social Sciences at Al Ain University of Science and Technology gave a lecture titled "The Art of Dealing with Characters". It was organized by the Deanship of Students Affairs in the city Al Ain. He showed that people have different personalities and different attitudes with each character its uniqueness in viewing the world and the concept of life. People may agree or disagree at times due to the one's characteristics, psychological and physical readiness in dealing with oneself and with others.

He even clarified during the lecture that the creator Almighty is important to the extent of our ability. We can understand the people around us and learn about their personalities, how they think, how they see the world and how we can speak other languages.

This has a significant role in the relations between the community and the family in particular when one is aware of the rich patterns of such personal information about himself/ herself and about his/her own domestic character, on his/her spouse, children and work colleagues.

Press Release Link