Nov 20, 2016

Al Ain University celebrates the Universal Children's Day

Under the slogan "Because they are the spirit of life", Al Ain University of Science and Technology celebrates the Universal Children's Day within an atmosphere of joy and innocence, where the Deanship of Student Affairs organized a fun day for kids from (4-8 years old) in collaboration with Mohammed bin Khalid Al Nahyan Association, Included entertaining, useful and fun activities for children such as: coloring, face painting, games, competitions and presenting gifts. A group of university's students who have spent a good time with the children also participated.

The celebration of this day is an honor for childhood and children and their place in our hearts, emphasizing the need to secure all their rights, and the keenness of Al Ain University of Science and Technology to enhance the cooperation prospects with various community institutions, in addition to instilling the concept of social responsibility in the students hearts and encourage them to engage in volunteering works.

Press Release Link