A Workshop about 'planting' at AAU

In cooperation with the General Women's Union, the Deanship of Student Affairs at Al Ain University of Science and Technology, Abu Dhabi Campus, organized a workshop entitled "Planting is my way to be self-sufficient", which aims to encourage household agriculture and promote theoretical knowledge and practical skills of agriculture.

The workshop included an explanation of the basics and skills of household agriculture, where the agricultural engineers who presented the workshop provided the audience with basic theoretical knowledge about the importance of agriculture, its environmental impact and its positive impact on global warming. The workshop also included a practical aspect on how to prepare the soil for agriculture.

The workshop was attended by academic and administrative staff and AAU students, who expressed their impression with the workshop. At the end, Dr. Hani Al Jarrah, Deputy Dean of Student Affairs honored the presenters in recognition of their efforts.
